Higher Education Quality Assessor

Al-Kaseasbeh is an accredited higher education quality assessor for Accreditation and Quality Assurance Commission for Higher Education (AQACHEI).

Math Cafe

Al-Kaseasbeh is the founder of Math Cafe where math anxiety replaced with "Mathability". Teaching mathematics out of the classroom environment in smart way endowed with high technology makes mathematics more fun and less anxious. It has a great impact on students' mathematical knowledge and skills. And in the end of the day it will be a part of providing community with qualified labor force.

COVID-19: Fill the Gap After Long Stop

17 Jan. 2021 After almost one year of online teaching, and preparing to back school, I

25 Feb 2021 (voluntarily) organize and deliver a face to face workshop to revival skills and knowledge as bridging the gap between online teaching and classroom teaching .

Online Teaching through Smart Book

A smart phone and a smart TV make live easier, so why not to have a smart book to make education easier. The following notes have been collected, in fast way during the COVID-19 pandemic, from several textbooks and YouTube channels to provide students with a short and neat introduction of a math-course. A short-direct hyper link is provided in the right place within the notes whenever an explanation is needed.

- A Smart Book in Topology 1 (2020)
- A Smart Book in Real Analysis 1 (2020)
- A Smart Book in Topology 2 (2021)
- A Smart Book in Real Analysis 2 (2021)

Research Interest

I am broadly interested in complex function theory with particular emphasis on how we can infer more information about a complex function from the shape of its image. Parallely, I am interested in theoretical computer science; especially when either fuzzy theory or lattices are the tools of the research context.

Teaching Interests and Philosophy

Mathematics is no longer a trivial calculation but rather an in-depth study requiring dedication and ingenuity. This passion and enthusiasm have guided my admiration of the subject and fueled my desire to become a teacher.

My goal in the classroom is to have a lively, open, and educational environment; this will help students to change there believes; that mathematics is not boring, impossible, or irrelevant.
